

Greg Sinclair:

I Do, Do I

How much power could you entrust in a group of children?
Would you let them tell you what to wear? Compose music for you to perform?
Greg Sinclair would.

I Do, Do I is a unique performance featuring a series of Fluxus-inspired musical scores written by children and performed by a man. Under the instruction of local primary school children, award-winning artist Greg Sinclair throws grown-up sensibilities out the window and takes audiences on a whimsical, wonderful journey through childish imagination.
